7:30pm Word Alive at Slanns Meadow - Last time we wrestle with hell.

We found it such a difficult subject that we never got on to heaven. So what about heaven and hell? Many people assume heaven is their destination but are they right? What will it be like? And how will it be there knowing that people are in hell? Plenty for us to explore together and to bring questions we may have otherwise been reluctant to share.

“Therefore encourage one another and build each other up,”

1 Thessalonians 5:11

It would be brilliant if you could let me know your favourite verse, if you let me know why that would be even better.

Thank you David G for the verse on the front who said “ It led us into our meeting, giving us a taste of Paul's pastoral heart.”,

Nat for the one on the back page and David Butler for the following:

Better is one day in your courts than a thousand elsewhere; I would rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God than dwell in the tents of the wicked.

Psalm 84:10

Why do you come to church week by week? Is it to worship God, to learn from his word, to enjoy fellowship or a combination of these and more? I travel a lot with my work and sometimes that includes on Sundays. I've been to many exotic (and some not so exotic) locations, seen lots of things, met many fascinating people and eaten all sorts of different foods. Yet, there is not a single Sunday that goes by, if I am not at church at home or where I'm staying, that I don't think about this verse from Psalm 84. You see, praising God and more specifically praising Him together with His people is one of our highest callings. It doesn't matter if we are an elder or brush the church hall, our time is better spent in this holy service than doing anything else. So in case there is a doorkeeper rota on the table at the back, sign me up!

Even though the fig trees have no blossoms,

and there are no grapes on the vines;

even though the olive crop fails,

and the fields lie empty and barren;

even though the flocks die in the fields,

and the cattle barns are empty,

¹⁸ yet I will rejoice in the LORD!

I will be joyful in the God of my salvation!

Habakkuk 3:17-18

A reminder and challenge to praise God in our difficult times
